Firemen Named

Charles Guth, veteran member of Carmel's police department has resigned to become one of the village's first paid firemen. Vincent Williams is to be the other full-time smoke eater.

Both men are veteran members of the volunteer department.

Guth has served on the police department since the days of August Englund. He is to be the senior engineer and driver of the department. Williams, who is to be the junior engineer, is also a city employee and served as a paid fireman in New York a few years ago.

In the pictures on this page, Guth is seen giving a fair motorist a ticket for reckless driving after she lost control of her car at the corner of Ocean avenue and Carpenter street and knocked a fire hydrant over at a dizzy angle. It was the last ticket he issued as a policeman.

John Short has returned from a week's visit with Cole Weston in Los Angeles, and reports that Edward Weston has received the Guggenheim Award for which he applied, and will make an intensive tour of the State for a year, photographing various subjects.

RECORD RAINFALL LEAVES ITS MARK

It Rained

An all-time record for seasonal rainfall was set when two storms swept the peninsula last week. It will be several weeks before the street department and state highway crews can repair the damage left in their wake.

The most serious slide of the year blocked the Coast highway just south of the Rock Creek bridge. The picture to the left gives some idea of the amount of rock and mud which came down into the road.

At the bottom of the page is a scene nearer home. The picture shows what happened to the highway on Carmel Hill. Two of the four lanes of the highway were blocked by the slide.

The other two views give some idea of the extent of damage to unpaved streets in Carmel. The larger picture was made at the intersection of Dolores and Sixth street and the smaller one was on Torres street.

Some weeks ago the Californian included, in a list of persons who had been confirmed at services in the Mission, the name of Miss Ruth Huntington. We humbly apologize for this error. Miss Huntington should have been named as a member of the Carmel Girl Scout Council.

Note in the picture above that when a large portion of a mountain skidded down into the Coast highway south of Carmel that

"Lone Tree," on the point above Rock Creek, came down with it but maintained its upright position and something of its dignity.

Man Bites Dog

By MYRON BRINIG

R. T. O. writes and wants to know how he can become a columnist and make $500.00 a week like us. Well, in the first place, R. T. O. you are mistaken about our price. It is not $500.00 but $1000.00. We refuse to put a typewriter key to paper until we get our $250.00 in advance of publication. The remaining $750.00 must be in our mail-box the day after the column has appeared. So if you're thinking of adopting a columnist's career, first have a contract for a large weekly sum. After the contract is signed and witnessed by a Notary Public, then all you have to do is sit down to your typewriter and start the column.

There are various ways of starting a column. I usually look over my mail for ideas. Since most of the mail I receive consists of bills I usually get tired after ten minutes and throw all the mail into the fire. This gets me nice and warm and I go back to my typewriter feeling a little better. My advice to a fledgling columnist is never to write a line cold. Be warm, the warmer the better. If you have no fire a few minutes spent looking at the Police Gazette is a pretty good idea. If you don't care for figures in tights, you might get a copy of Physical Culture. Now—are you warm? I mean good and hot? Then, immediately, start your column.

Your first line should immediately attract attention. Something about sunshine would be a very good idea. Sunshine would make the reader curious at once because there is so little of it. Most readers haven't seen the sun for a good many weeks and naturally they will be interested in anything unusual like sunshine. Don't for heaven's sake write anything about rain, at least, not in the first line. Rain is not unusual. Get the idea? Everybody knows what rain looks like by now, but very few subscribers know much about the sun. Not unless they happen to come from some Eastern state like Iowa or Nebraska. Or Maine, if you like. Maine would be even better than Iowa or Nebraska because it's so unusual. As Maine goes so goes the nation.

Snapshots

Sally Fry came back to Carmel last week.

It may have been just a coincidence but the boat she came on also carried nuts from Brazil.

It may also have been a coincidence but the fact remains that since she returned the tempo of life in Carmel speeded up considerably. Of course the Delta Gammass, the Alpha Phis and the Kappas representatives who were here for Easter helped . . . but we'll leave it to Jack Williamson's camera to describe them. (Or have you seen page 1?)

Almost passed up Betty Dresser over the week-end she looked so different without her sun-tan. Vying for her erstwhile title as Carmel's bronze goddess are Dixie Lee Cavalier, who seems to have just a shade of a start on her rivals, and Virginia Clotfelder who almost caught up in her two days on Carmel Beach.

And speaking of attractive girls, Nancy Gross certainly had a monopoly on the men in the Del Monte tap-room Sunday afternoon. The polo players seemed to consider her company their reward for winning the annual Pacific Coast Handicap championship.

Movie cameras took snapshots of the game which was one of the most thrilling ever held here. Cecil Smith and Eric Tyrrell-Martin, the international stars, put on a great show to give the famous

And if there's sunshine in Maine, there's sure to be sunshine in California. Maybe not right away, but then nothing important happens right away. A good first line for any column would be: If the sun shines in Maine, what of it? A line like that would attract attention.

As you work your way from the top to the bottom of the column, keep getting more intimate all the time. Talk a out people you know. Say something about having seen Libby dancing at Del Monte or Don giving a lecture. Both those items are very unusual. Or you might mention dogs. A good idea would be to write about Marie Short's dogs. And Myron Brinig's. That would be very original and startling. When everything else fails, a column can always go to the dogs and be successful. Next to dogs, I know nothing more interesting to write about than cocktail parties. Very few people who attend cocktail parties care what you write about because they don't remember what happened. So you can usually splurge on cocktail parties.

By the time you've reached bottom—I mean the bottom of the column, all you have to do is say, That'll be all folks, see you next week! Of course, a lot of people will write in to say, Not if they see you first. But don't pay any attention. You'll have your column, and what have they got? Just eye-strain, probably.

Texas Rangers a 15 to 11 win over Castro Valley.

Spurring the polo players to their best efforts was a distinguished gallery which included many film luminaries. Among them were Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Fairbanks (the former Lady Sylvia Ashley) Gregory Ratoff, Roland Young, Mr. and Mrs. James F. Townsend (Josephine Hutchinson) and Gregory La Cava. Townsend and La Cava competed in the Invitational golf championship at Pebble Beach which was won by George Heffelfinger of Minneapolis.

The newsreel men also paid a visit to the Roman Plunge where two records were broken in the Pacific Coast Senior Swimming meet. One was by Marin Jeppesen in the 100 yards backstroke championship and the other by Marie La Montagne in the 50 yards dash. Miss La Montagne then went on to win the 100 yards free style event, firmly establishing herself as Northern California's No. 1 mermaid.

Despite the large number of cars in Carmel this week traffic accidents were few, thanks to Chief Robert Norton and his assistants. The only one that happened to come to our attention was when Margaret Catherine Camp of the Carmel Hospital staff, lost control of her car rounding a curve and knocked over a fire-hydrant at Ocean and Carpenter streets.

In case you got the very natural impression that there was none but college students in Carmel over the week-end, we beg that at least one member of the U. C. faculty was here. He is Professor John Cushing, of the music department, who, with Miss Cornelia Adams, daughter of another University of California professor, was the house guest of Miss Virginia Hale.

Miss Hale, we understand, is leaving next week for a two months' stay in the East.

The exodus of the college crowd—twenty-five from one house that we know of—has proved something of a let-down, but there is plenty of activity in store for Carmelites.

On April 14 the famous Hollywood Ballet, an artistic burlesque of the film city, will visit the Peninsula for a special performance in aid of the Carmel Mission Restoration fund. Those snappy posters you see around town advertising the event, which is to be held at Del Monte, are by none other than Phil Nesbitt whose work appears in The Californian from time to time.

The ballet has appeared in all of the leading cities of the country including an engagement at the Metropolitan Opera House. The music is by Ferde Grofe but the male population at least will find Miss Aida Broadbent, the premiere danseuse, the big attraction, unless we miss our bet. Anyway, it promises to provide something new in the way of entertainment as well as being in aid of a good cause, and many prominent Carmelites are working for the success of the affair.

Then there is the six days' racing program to be held at the Del Monte Race Track from Decoration Day—May 31st to you—until June 5 under the auspices of the Monterey County Racing Association of which Henry Potter Russell is the director.

It's about time that a community which has been noted so long for breeding fine horses revived some activity along these lines, and with purses large enough to attract some of the finest horses which have run at Santa Anita, Tanforan and Bay Meadows, the meet should prove a success.

As this column goes to press we learn of the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur B. Tarpey Jr., of San Francisco. We wondered why they weren't down here for Easter as they are frequent Carmel week-enders.

Mr. Clampett Married

Of great interest to the Carmel friends of Robert Clampett, of San Francisco, is the announcement of his marriage in Reno last week to Mrs. Margaret Carroll Smith of New York. The ceremony was performed by the Reverend Brewster Adams.

Mr. Clampett is the son of Mrs. Frederick W. Clampett, of San Antonio street, who drove to Reno with her sister, Mrs. Edmund Dexter of New York who is visiting her, to attend the wedding. The late Doctor Clampett, noted clergyman and author, rector of Trinity Episcopal Church for many years, was his father.

The groom is the brother of Mrs. Cornelia Bell Clampett, of Carmel, and of Reginald, Paul and Donald Clampett.

After a wedding trip to Mexico, from which they will return April 17, the couple will make their home temporarily at the Fairmount Hotel.

Guests of Del Monte Lodge, Pebble Beach, last week-end were Vicount and Vicountess Mandeville of Kimbolton Castle, Huntington, England, Baron Kimbolton, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Waring of New York, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bohling, Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Buckley Jr., Mr. and Mrs. William Ede and Sally and Marcia Ede of Piedmont, Mr. and Mrs. George Kleiser, Mrs. Armstrong Taylor of San Francisco and Mr. Tirey Ford of San Mateo.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Wilson, part time residents of Carmel, are in the Village this week staying at their house on Casanova. Mrs. Howard, of Berkeley, Mrs. Wilson's sister, and her two children are their house guests.

Captain and Mrs. DeWitt Blamer held an official house-warming in their beautiful new home on South Carmelo, Sunday afternoon to which they invited a number of their friends. Tea and cocktails were served to the admiring house warmers.

PERSONALLY SPEAKING

Occupying the Hudgins house on San Antonio street last week end were two celebrities,—Miss Carmen Hallmeyer, prominent attorney of San Francisco, and Miss Ruth Close of Portland, Oregon, well known harpist of the ether waves.

From San Francisco came Mr. and Mrs. John Wilhoit and their son and daughter to spend the holidays in Carmel.

In "Hideaway," the Steffens house on San Antonio, were a bevy of Mills marvels, namely Georgia Ann Milmore, Nancy Taylor, Mary Margaret Rupp, Betty Campbell, Helen Frank, and Barbara Budschu. Fifi Leasure, a Mills graduate, was the chaperone.

Miss Jean MacKelvie of New York, photographed on the golf course at the Cypress Point Club. Miss MacKelvie, who is an ardent golfer has been spending the winter months on the Peninsula, making her headquarters the Del Monte Lodge at Pebble Beach.

Three Berkeley residents who spend much time in Carmel chose last week to revisit the Village. They were Mrs. H. H. Hillman, Miss Marilyn Wines and Miss A. M. McDermott.

Mr. and Mrs. Pardee Erdman of Pasadena spent several days and the week-end at Peter Pan Lodge.

Look what the Easter Bunny brung! Many, many years ago the Easter Bunny paid a visit to Stockton and left a basket on the Eagle doorstep and guess who was in it? Little Annie Eagle who afterwards grew up to become Mrs. Jack Jordan. Driving to Stockton to celebrate her birthday Sunday with her parents, Ann returned to the Village yesterday.

Visiting Colonel and Mrs. C. E. Hathaway at their home on San Antonio street are their son and daughter-in-law, Lt. and Mrs. Lowman Hathaway who are en route from Fort Bliss, Texas, to the Philippines where Lieutenant Hathaway will be stationed for the next two years. With them is their small daughter, Anne.

Mrs. Gauld Honored

Mrs. F. W. Ten Winkel entertained at a beautifully appointed bridge tea at Del Monte Lodge Monday afternoon. The guest of honor was her cousin, Mrs. Gordon Gauld, of Crawfordsville, Indiana, who is visiting her.

Those who were invited to meet Mrs. Gauld were Mesdames Ira Miller, C. A. T. Cabiness, Chester Shephard, C. G. Lawrence, Gerald Totten, C. J. Ryland, Ethel P. Young, Robert Stanton, Rush Wallace, Walton, John Cocke, C. E. Hathaway, M. J. Peterson, McAdams, George Heathorne, F. A. Huffer, John E. Lavander, J. Templeman, J. J. Cushing, Norman Reynolds, Adam Darling, Alfred Wheldon, Alger Fast, Lew Hill, Clement, Woolf, and the Misses Flora Stewart and Margaret Moll.

Mills College held an unofficial convention in Carmel last week. In addition to the several million students basking in the liquid sunshine, the faculty was well represented. Mrs. Marion Long Stebbins, head of the drama department, visited her daughter, Miss Margaret Stebbins, at her house at Camino Real and Pico. Alice and Gus Brewer (Mr. and Mrs. Gustave) renewed old friendships here and there. Mr. Brewer is head of the art department.

Checking up on Ed Converse, Bimini-bound, on the yacht, "Panacea," in the company of Alan Rinehart, the yacht's owner, son of Mary Roberts Rinehart, and of the publishing firm of Farrar and Rinehart, and Ralph Draper of New York. Bimini is the Mecca of all deep-sea-fishing enthusiasts, and while there Ed will try for a Marlin or two.

Ed was waylaid in Florida on his way East to be on hand for the opening, April ninth, of Peggy Wood's new starring vehicle in which Peggy Converse (Mrs. Ed) will have an important role.

Commander and Mrs. Ralph Risley, of Lopez street, are the happy parents of a baby boy weighing seven pounds born several days ago.

A number of Villagers drove to Salinas Saturday afternoon to attend a tea given by Mrs. Andrew Hughes for Miss Virginia Jacks, whose wedding will be an important event of the Spring. Carmelites present were Mesdames John Abernethy, A. E. Sparks, Howard Monroe, Carl Burrows, William Lee, Vera Peck Millis, Charles Berkey and Rita Beller.

Mrs. Alfred Mathews gave a small luncheon Thursday in her lovely home on San Antonio street. Her guests were Mrs. Florence MacIntyre, Mrs. Ira Miller and Mrs. Rachel Hathaway.

The Mission Ranch Club entertained about 72 guests at luncheon Sunday.

To offset the influx of aliens, there was an exodus of some of the Kamainas last week. However, they returned to the fold none the worse for wear, and probably with their dispositions more intact, than as if they had stayed at home and tried to find parking places on Ocean avenue. Mrs. Robert Stanton and Mrs. Herman Crossman were among those who did a bit of Easter-egging in the Big City.

COLUMNIST

Kevin Wallace, a local boy who made good in the big city. Kevin, a student at the University of California, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Wallace, former Carmel residents of long standing, and the brother of Mrs. Peter Harndon (Molra Wallace) who is responsible for a lot of the decorative art work around about. Kevin has earned the distinction of making the front page of the San Francisco Chronicle with his Lim-panels.

Below he offers the Lim part of one of them, which he did apropos the merits of "The Californian." In town for the Easter holidays, Kevin left Sunday to resume his studies at Berkeley.

Z Bar T Owners Here

Mrs. Charles Belden and her daughter, Annise, who is a student at Stanford, left Carmel Sunday after having enjoyed a week of activity on the Peninsula. The Beldens are the owners of the Z bar T Dude Ranch at Pitchfork, Wyoming, has the largest herd of Four Prong Antelope in North America, some 3,000 head. Pictures of typical winter scenes on the ranch appeared in a recent issue of "Life."

While in Carmel, the Beldens were the incentive for a number of parties.

A Fun Birthday

Its fun to be nine, especially when you can have a birthday party. That's the opinion of Alice Morehouse and Doris Lewis who celebrated their birthdays together at Los Laureles, in the Carmel Valley, Saturday.

There were games indoors, and outdoors between showers. Everyone wore playsuits and ate ice cream, cake and Easter eggs.

Wishing Alice and Doris "many happy returns" were Jeanne Sayers, Susan Walters, Nancy Lee Watson, Barbara Timmons, Barbara Myler, Carol Lou Walker, Barbara Josselyn, Constance David, Barbara Moriarity, Betty Ryland, Joan and Sue Dekker, Patty Flynn, Donna Rich, Ruth Townsend, Janet Strassburger and Mary Jean Elliott.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Morehouse are the parents of Alice and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Lewis and Doris's Ma and Pa.

Exhibit at Hotel

A fine exhibit of equestrian etchings and paintings by the distinguished artist, Howard E. Smith are now being shown at Del Monte Hotel where they are creating much interest among the members of the polo set.

Some of the paintings and etchings are the result of sketches which Smith made while on a visit to Carmel last year and others have their locale in the High Sierras. Outstanding among them is "The Huntsman and the Hounds."

Mr. Smith was so impressed with the Monterey Peninsula that he returned again this year and has taken a cottage on Casanova street with his wife and their three children, Jeanne, Jacqueline and Howard Jr.

His exhibition here includes pictures which were exhibited at the Corcoran Art Gallery in Washington, the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts and the National Academy of Design in New York.

Mrs. F. A. Huffer invited a large group of friends to tea Saturday, to meet Mr. Huffer's sister, Mrs. John E. Lavender, who is visiting them.

Mr. William vom Rath and one of his twin daughters, Miss Marie vom Rath, arrived last week from New York to join Mrs. vom Rath and twin Cecelia, who have been living in the Alberger house at Pebble Beach these spring months.

WE ARE ASHAMED OF IT

Raw Sewerage

There isn't anything artistic about the two pictures above and there isn't even any news value to them, but the Sanitary Board wants you to know what happens to Carmel's sewerage. There is going to be a bond issue for a new sewerage disposal plant this spring and the board members are anxious for everyone to know just how bad the new plant is needed.

One of the pictures shows the wreckage of the old plant and the raw sewerage pouring out of a pipe in the center of the ruins. The other shows how the sewerage is being dumped on the beach at present. The split is a favorite feeding spot for the gulls.

Fortunately, but few of our visitors know of this condition. The plant, or what is left of it, is on the little bay at the mouth of the Carmel river. However, this spot was a popular picnic grounds until time, tide and storms wrecked the sewer plant.

MISS CULBERTSON, GREY GABLES' GARDEN

Miss Josephine Culbertson, "Grand Old Lady of Carmel," is shown beside a painting she made many years ago in her own gar-

To a Garden

Gray Gables. The Boys Club. The Dickens Club. What memories those names evoke to most of the old-timers. Memories of two grand ladies, Miss Josephine Culbertson and Miss Ida Johnson, who did more to bring happiness to their fellow townspeople than can ever be recounted.

Those of us who attended the exhibition, arranged by a group of Miss Culbertson's friends, will remember the painting "Gray Gables' Garden," which, as a matter of fact, was the largest picture in the group. "Gray Gables' Garden," was adjudged, by a committee of artists, one of the finest in the exhibition.

Inasmuch as Carmel claims Miss Culbertson as its very own, wouldn't it be a grand thing for the Village to have that painting? That is exactly what a few of the "Boys," now grown up, think, and what the Dickens Club members, who are still about, maintain.

Through the efforts of a few of these still grateful friends a movement is now underway to obtain subscriptions sufficient to purchase this picture and present it to some public enterprise, or building, so that the memory of a garden. That garden and her home were the meeting places for so many groups that her friends are den wherein so many profitable and happy hours were passed may remain ever fresh.

The Boys Club, which was organized before the Boy Scouts became a part of Carmel life, boasts many members who have attained fame and distinction since "growing-up." Our Chief of Police, Bob Norton may attribute his rise to fame to his early association with the Boys Club. Another "Boy" was Police Officer Roy Frates. Bill Heron, John and Gordy Campbell, Glen and Dale Leidig, Cedric Rowntree, Ted Cator, Hof Hooper, Johnny Rockwell, Dave Prince, Bill Judson, Ted Criley, Paul Stoney, George Aucourt, Harold Gates, Franklin Murphy, Kenneth Goold, David and Moses Machado, Albert and Carl Wermuth, Douglas Scott and Dick Boke, are a few others who recall their early days at Gray Gables.

Subscriptions from all those who wish to perpetuate the memory of Carmel's younger and more intimate days, will be received with much pleasure at Staniford's Drug Store which is now located in the Mission Market.

Mrs. Muriel Marsh entertained eight of her Carmel friends at her house in Monterey last week. Bridge and tea were the diversions.

now endeavoring to purchase the picture and place it in some public building in the village.

Mr. and Mrs. Diego Suarez entertained at dinner last week at their Pebble Beach home. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fletcher, Mr. and Mrs. John Magee, Mr. and Mrs. S. F. B. Morse, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McKay, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hill Vincent, Mr. and Mrs. Francis McComas, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Potter Russell, Mr. and Mrs. William H. vom Rath, Mrs. A. A. Fowler and Mr. Mark Elworthy.

As her week-end house guest, Miss Mary Morse entertained Miss Genevieve Lyman, of San Francisco. Sunday a group of their young friends were invited to lunch at River Ranch.

With the Amateur Photographers

From darkest Africa (our circulation extends to the four corners of the earth, please note) comes this photograph entitled "Native Fisherman on Lake Edward" submitted by Edward Lee. The composition is excellent and the subject unusual, to say the least.

We Go Places

Amateur photographers went a long way from home this week. At least, they submitted pictures made in such far away places as Africa and Venice.

Only one seems to have been made in the vicinity of Carmel and we have a hunch that the man who made it is trying to inject some comedy into the contest. His subject is serious enough, but that name and address indicates that someone isn't taking this contest too seriously.

The $5 prize this week goes to George Seidenberg for the print shown at the left. It was made in Venice as a group of women were loading salt on a boat. He intended to make a painting of it later but he won't have to make many changes in the composition.

Scouts to Parade

Hundreds of Scouts, Cubs, Sea Scouts, and their adult leaders from all parts of the Monterey Bay Area Council will parade through the main street of Salinas as a gigantic opening feature of the big second annual Boy Scout Circus, to be staged in the Salinas National Guard Armory Saturday night, April 3.

Starting at the armory, the parade will proceed along San Luis street to Main, then to Central, returning to the armory by way of Lincoln street. The Scout units will then march in to the large auditorium for the presentation of the opening ceremony of the affair, which starts promptly at 8 p.m.

Newest feature of the huge circus, the parade, was added to the program by the arrangements committee of the affair because of demand from the Scout units of the council, Couthie explained.

From the parade the program will launch quickly into its various phases depicting building of character and the trail to citizenship by way of the Scout program.

Roy Ladra, chairman of attendance committee, urges that all parents and friends of Scouting make every effort to attend this, the largest annual endeavor of the Scout movement in the Monterey Bay Area.

Tickets, if purchased in advance from local Cubs and Scouts, can be obtained for 25 cents; if purchased at box office 35 cents. Seating is limited to 1500, and
